JLA Trust Values Statement

Who are We?

Our work is based on two Jewish principles: “B’tselem Elohim – each person is created in God’s image” and also on “Tikkun Olam—repairing the world” so we are inclusive of all faiths, ethnicities, disability type and sexual/gender identities

What do we do for clients?

We use available trust funds to help improve well-being beyond a client’s current status quo and facilitate budgeting decisions. We take a comprehensive and person-centered approach to connecting beneficiaries and their families to other agencies and resources that will contribute to a higher quality of life.

How do we help clients and the community?

We provide excellent, dignified client service by ease of access during the enrollment process and on-going use of services, helping clients when they need it the most, including in-person meetings. For both clients and the larger community, we share our knowledge on government benefits, advocacy and special needs trusts.
